Windrush Energy Receives 29.0 MW in Power Contracts

HOCKLEY VALLEY, Ontario, February 27, 2007 - J.C.Pennie, Chairman & CEO of Windrush Energy announced today that the Company has received three Standard Offer Contracts from the Ontario Power Authority for a total of 29.0 Megawatts for its projects in the Grand Valley area.

In 2002, Windrush Energy was established by six partners from the architectural, energy, financial, medical and publishing fields, all of whom hold a belief in the urgent need to meet the challenge of global warming. Windrush Energy has been dedicating its resources to create distributed power generation by developing renewable inland projects, serving local communities where the power is used.

Phases one and two of the Grand Valley project will consist of 12 renewable wind energy turbines, located along Dufferin County Road 25 at the Ashton Ridge Golf Course. 100% of the adjoining neighbours of the project gave their support, enabling by-laws for the projects to be approved by the Township Council in 2005. It is expected that upon receipt of an environmental certificate and site plan approval that these phases will be completed no later than spring 2008. The additional phases will be in subsequent years.

Grand Valley Township Mayor, John Oosterhof, stated, "Support for the project was based on a desire of Grand Valley to encourage development and become a leader in environmental issues."

Working with its financial partner, Creststreet Capital, who has wind power contracts in other parts of Canada, Windrush Energy determined early on to group wind turbines into small clusters with setbacks further than other developers. Present plans are for a minimum 430 meter setback to eliminate any possible sound travel. Opposite is a simulated aerial photo of Ashton Ridge Gold Course renewable 10.0 MW project in East Luther Grand Valley Township west of Orangeville, Ontario.
